HISTORIANS HAVE RECORD SESSION

Kauai Society Hear Several Very Interesting Papers

The meeting of the Kauai Historical Society Thursday evening, Nov. 16, was, by common consent, the most interesting and successful in the history of the Society.

In the absence of the President, the Vice-President, Rev. J. M. Lydgate, occupied the chair.

In the line of business several new members were elected, and, on the suggestion of Mr. Chas. A. Rice, a committee was appointed to take steps to preserve, and, perhaps, restore, some of the more important Heiaus on the island of Kauai, as these would soon be utterly forgotten, and, perhaps, demolished, if not protected and preserved.

The first paper of the evening was a Kauai chapter, out of a forthcoming "History of the Roman Catholic Missions" in these Islands, giving an interesting outline of the establishment of the work, mainly at Koloa and Moaloa, and revealing a surprising degree of bitterness, that verged on persecution, on the part of the officials as well as the common Hawaiians. The author was Rev. Father Reginald Yzenboorn, the official historian of the Roman Catholic Church, as well as a recognized authority on general matters. The paper was read by Mr. Avery.

The second paper on the program was one on the "Historic Spots of Interest at Wailua Kai." Prominent among these was the famous Holo-holo-ku birthstone, where all the real chiefs of exalted station of the olden time must be born. Two or three important Heiaus, and the Papa-Alae, where Kauai tradition localizes the discovery of fire, add to the interest of the region archeologically, while as the ancient capital, and the residence of the kings.

Hilonian Calls

The Matson steamer Hilonian arrived at Port Allen Friday morning from the coast via Honolulu and sailed again Saturday afternoon for Kahului and the coast. She took from this island 22,909 cases of pineapples, 269 tons of sugar and 124 empty gasoline drums.

Mrs. Brown Dead

Mrs. Brown, sister of Miss Payne, teacher in the Wailua school, passed away last night after a long illness. The funeral will take place at the Wailua school cottage at 3 o'clock this afternoon, interment to be in Lihue cemetery.

A FULL GRADUATE HAWAIIAN DOCTOR

A Hilo paper of last week contained the following interesting information concerning Dr. Kaunuu Hanchett, a Hawaiian who was born in Lihue and is a half brother of Deputy Sheriff W. O. Crowell, of Waiman.

One Hawaiian young man who has distinguished himself on the mainland visited Hilo last Monday and was the guest for the day of the Rev. S. L. Desha. He is Dr. Kaunuu Hanchett, a graduate of Harvard University Medical College and a half brother of Deputy Sheriff Crowell, of Waiman, Kauai. When he stepped ashore from the Great Northern in Hilo last Monday it was the first time in ten years that he had set foot in his native land.

Dr. Hanchett is a graduate of the Kamehameha Schools, of Punahou College and of Harvard. When he graduated from the University he was one of fifty young physicians who took the examination for the position of an interne in one of the big Rhode Island hospitals. Dr. Hanchett stood at the top of the list and secured the position, where he was for two years until he resigned to come home. For the last four months he was assistant superintendent of the hospital.

Dr. Hanchett will open offices in Honolulu and proposes to make his home here. He says there is no place like Hawaii after all.

Eleele Church Work

Eleele is to have a Sunday morning bible class in connection with the new church organization. The class will be conducted by Mrs. C. F. Loomis, and will take up the study of the life of Christ, using Bosworth's "Studies of the Life of Christ" as the basis of the work.

In response to a general request on the part of the Eleele church, Rev. J. M. Lydgate will hereafter conduct services there twice, instead of once a month as heretofore. These services will be held on the first and third Sunday evenings of the month, and special effort will be made to render them interesting and attractive, musically as well as otherwise. With regular stated services at Lihue, Koloa, Kilauea and Eleele, Mr. Lydgate is kept busy on Sundays, though he declares it is the car that does most of the work. He has worn out a set of tires in three months.

Anthony Richley, inspector of the department of public works, came over on the Maui Friday morning to look over the work being done by the Lord-Young Co. at Nawiliwili. An amicable and satisfactory arrangement will undoubtedly be made between the department and the contractors in regard to the defective piles.

COL. SPALDING WINS IN BIG SUIT

In the suit of James Stewart & Co., contractors, against Colonel Z. S. Spalding, of Kealia, for $57,038.76, a balance the plaintiffs claimed from the Colonel on account of the construction of a building in Portland, Oregon, costing $562,267.42, the supreme court has reversed the decision of the lower (Judge Whitney's) court, which means that Colonel Spalding wins.

The case was tried before a jury about a year ago and in pursuance of the verdict Judge Whitney rendered his decision. The supreme court holds error of law, reverses the judgment and vacates the verdict. Error was committed in allowing certain evidence to go to the jury and in certain instructions given to the jury against the protest of counsel for the defendant.

The opinion of the court was written by Chief Justice Robertson and was concurred in by the entire bench.

INSPECTIONS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Special care is being taken in the new school inspection work of the Board of Health in Honolulu to detect incipient tuberculosis among the children and the extra precautions, it is hoped, will soon be applied to every island. This system this year has been extended from Honolulu proper to the island of Oahu. On Kauai the tuberculosis nurse attended all the school examinations pointing out to the physician the children from tuberculous families and giving him other information that would help him detect the disease.

This part of the tuberculosis campaign is the outgrowth of work started several years ago, when preliminary surveys showed that a great deal of consumption could be expected in Hawaiian schools. Among a number of suspects then taken under supervision some have improved to such an extent that they were returned to school this year, but in some other cases it was necessary to send the little patients to sanitariums.

The anti-tuberculosis bureau is working on the accepted theory of the increased prospect of infection in children over adults. Some hold the theory that all consumption starts in the child and only develops in later years. The bureau does not ignore this possibility and takes all precautions.

It has issued this week a special warning to parents and teachers to observe more carefully the children under their charge and to remember that a suspicious symptom in a child is more suspicious than in an adult. It urges every one to take no chances and have delicate children frequently examined for the disease.

Mr. Dean Ill

D. Wm. Dean, clerk of the Fifth Circuit Court, has been attacked by a fever and fears were entertained at first that it might be typhoid. Present symptoms do not indicate it, however, and the patient is much improved today.

Five cases of illness in the past few weeks in the region mauka of the road from Lihue to Koloa have been diagnosed as typhoid fever.

Senator Chas. A. Rice will be a passenger in the steamer tonight for Honolulu.

BAD MAN ESCAPES; STILL AT LARGE

A Filipino convict going under the name of Felipe Ihano escaped from the Lihue jail last Thursday morning and has since been at large. The police all over the island have been notified and are on the lookout for the missing man.

Felipo, or Felipe, is one of the men convicted in the Circuit Court only last week of assaulting and brutally beating up Luna Louis Conradt, on Kealia plantation. He and a man named Suarez were sentenced to not less than two years and eleven months nor more than five years in jail. The worst offender of the three (a man called Jose) was given not less than three nor more than five years.

The man Felipe simply disappeared from the jail, and no one seems to know how or when. Some police accounts have it that he made his get-away at 7 o'clock in the morning, but he was not definitely missed, perhaps, until around 11 o'clock.

NEW DENTIST IS COMING FRIDAY

Dr. F. M. Branch, dentist, of Honolulu, who has recently been on the island of Hawaii, will arrive here Friday morning to consult with those most interested on the subject of establishing permanent dental accommodations at some place on the island.

It is now certain that Dr. Derby will not remain here-in fact it is doubtful that he will return at all, for it is known that he has other plans.

The dental proposition has become a little complicated for the further reason that Dr. Braley, who, when he left Kauai, stated that he could not return here, has since found that his business arrangements will permit him to do so; and he is now quite willing to come back to Lihue and resume his practice.

The feeling around Lihue seems to be that there is room in Kauai population of 30,000 people for two dentists, and that with Dr. Braley at Lihue and Dr. Branch at Waiman both will be able to build up bank accounts and the public will be better served and better satisfied. Drs. Braley and Branch are excellent dentists and in the opinion of many people the island would be fortunate in getting both of them.

A Press Accident

Realizing on good intentions of a 11 well-regulated newspapers is sometimes obstructed by unfelicitous circumstances. Soon after the press was started on the first "side" of this issue of THE GARDEN ISLAND, something went wrong in the machinery and two pages of the paper were shattered. All of the advertising in those two pages had to be reconstructed, taking much of the time of the mechanical force since early yesterday afternoon. The press has promised to be good hereafter, however, so that the next issue of THE GARDEN ISLAND will be in form suitable to the holiday season which is now close at hand.

Judge C. B. Hofgaard, Chief Justice of Waiman, spent several days of last week in Lihue, greeting friends, taking in the meeting of the Historical Society and, incidentally, transacting a good deal of business in the way of insurance, an important side-line with which he busies himself occasionally.

TODAY'S AND LATEST NEWS BY WIRELESS

Honolulu—The Inter-Island strike is still undetermined. Meetings were held at 5 and at 8 last night, but the question of whether the strike should be made or not was left unsettled.

It is reported that Thayer has forwarded his resignation to Washington.

The Public Utilities Commission has asked six direct questions of the Inter-Island S. N. Company and have given time in which to answer. The first question is as to what non-utility enterprises the company is interested in: from what sources such enterprises are built up; what their value. Has the company bonded indebtedness or sold treasury stock. What values of non-utility stock; what are cash dividends, and have there been any stock dividends.

Germany And America

Washington—Germany has semi-officially admitted sinking the steamer Arabia without warning, in the Mediterranean.

Hakuole says he is not advocating the strike.
